A. PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
The Public Affairs Section of U.S. Consulate General Johannesburg of the U.S. Department of State announces an open competition for organizations to submit applications to carry out a Black History Month performance program. As part of the U.S. Mission’s commemoration of Black History Month (BHM) in February 2021, the grantee will stage a four-week (20-performance minimum) run of a thought-provoking play that addresses the African-American experience. Competitive proposals will demonstrate how the proposed play will resonate with South African audiences, and, preferably, feature a play written in the past 10 years by an African-American playwright. Preference will be given for plays that highlight American contributions to end apartheid in South Africa. Please carefully follow all instructions below.

Priority Region: Project activities must take place in South Africa’s greater Gauteng region, as well as one South African city outside of Gauteng. The program must be directed at South African audiences/participants.

Program Objectives:
The grantee’s theatrical production program should: (1) Raise awareness about African-American literature, culture, and/or history with South African audiences; (2) Conduct educational outreach in connection with the production for historically disadvantaged South African youth. The outreach should underscore connections between African-Americans’ struggle for equality in the United States and South Africa’s liberation struggle (examples: student performances that take place in township schools or other venues in the greater Gauteng area, and/or skills- or partnership building collaborations between performance organizations that share the play’s message beyond the urban centers); (3) Ensure a first-hand experience of the theatrical production for historically disadvantaged youth audiences at no cost (examples: in addition to the example above, a dedicated matinee performance for youth; theatrical performances in area schools; blocks of free tickets for high school students, etc.); and (4) Host a gala reception on or around opening night in Gauteng to provide a platform for key stakeholders, including the U.S. Mission to South Africa, to raise awareness about the similar histories of the African-American and South African liberation struggles. (5) Host a reception on or around opening night in the second performance city. (NOTE: By U.S. Federal Law, grant funds cannot be used for the purchase of alcohol.)

Program Elements:

- Design and produce a four-week Black History Month theatrical performance.
- Host a gala reception for key U.S. Mission stakeholders in Gauteng and a second reception in the second performance city.
- Invite an American playwright to South Africa, if practical.
- Conduct educational outreach and performances in under-served areas of Greater Gauteng, preferably in collaboration with partner organization(s).
- Part of the performance run must take place in a city outside Gauteng.

Participants and Audiences:
Performers, technical and artistic staff must be primarily South African, chosen through a competitive process. Targeted audiences are South Africans in the greater Gauteng area, to include high school-age children and adults. While the majority of the grantee’s theatrical production can run principally in Gauteng, there must be at least a 70-30 split run with another major theater outside Gauteng. Performances in the Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and Pretoria urban centers must take place in theater(s) with a capacity of at least 200 seats. Performances in schools or townships should seat at least 100.

E. APPLICATION REVIEW INFORMATION

1. Criteria

A Grants Review Committee will evaluate all eligible applications.

The guiding principle in evaluating and rating each application is: Will the desired outcomes of the program be achieved? Are the goals and objectives well understood, and is the plan of action likely to succeed? And how will this be measured?

Here are some of the factors that the Grant Review Committee will consider when making this assessment:

Organizational Capacity and Record on Previous Grants: The organization has expertise in its stated field and has the internal controls in place to manage federal funds. This includes a financial management system and a bank account.

Applicants must demonstrate their capacity for:
• Project management;
• Communication – written and oral;
• Monitoring and evaluation processes;
• Financial integrity;
• Appropriate staffing;
• Capacity to award sub-grants at a national level.

Program Planning/Ability to Achieve Objectives and Project Sustainability: Goals and objectives are clearly stated and program approach is likely to provide maximum impact in achieving the proposed results. There is a clear plan for ensuring the project is sustainable beyond the period of performance.

Budget: The budget justification is detailed. Costs are reasonable in relation to the proposed activities and anticipated results. The budget is realistic, accounting for all necessary expenses to achieve proposed activities.

Monitoring and evaluation plan: Applicant demonstrates it is able to measure program success against key indicators and provides milestones to indicate progress toward goals outlined in the proposal. The program includes output and outcome indicators, and shows how and when those will be measured.

The United States Department of State strives to ensure that its efforts reflect the diversity of U.S. society and societies abroad. The U.S. Embassy seeks and encourages the involvement of people from traditionally underrepresented audiences in all its grants, programs and other activities and in its workforce and workplace. Opportunities are open to people regardless of their race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, geographic location, socio-economic status, disability, sexual orientation or gender identity. The Embassy is committed to fairness, equity and inclusion. Proposals should demonstrate substantive support of diversity and describe how diversity will be integrated into all aspects of the program. Applicants should demonstrate readiness to accommodate participants with physical disabilities.
